Stunt Doubling Equity

TV/THEATRICAL/STREAMING

Producers must now consult with SAG-AFTRA to identify additional resources for qualified stunt performers that better resemble the principal performer.

Producers must now consult with SAG-AFTRA to identify additional resources for qualified stunt performers that better resemble the principal performer.

The new terms are designed to curtail the practice of “wiggings” and “paintdowns” for stunt performers. The practice of paintdowns & wiggings is when wigs, make-up, costume, computer-generated imagery, or any other method is used to hide the ethnic or gender substitution when stunt doubling an actor.
